SILVER ISSUES

JENNER BOUNCED.

The State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Dismissed on Grave Charges.

HE MADE NO DEFENSE WHATSOEVER.

But Said the Matter Would Be Fully Investigated in the Courts of the State. The Resolution Adopted.

November 10.—[Special.] Mr. William P. Jenner, State Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, was dismissed from his position yesterday afternoon on grave charges. The resolution adopted by the association was as follows: "Resolved, That the association disavows the position of Mr. Jenner as its State Secretary, and that it is the duty of the association to investigate the charges against him, and to take such action as may be deemed proper in the premises." The charges against Mr. Jenner were of a serious nature, and the association's action was a significant one. Mr. Jenner, who had been in the position of State Secretary for some time, was known for his energetic and somewhat controversial management. The association's decision to dismiss him was a clear statement of its commitment to high standards of conduct and transparency.

The state committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, which was in session yesterday, heard the charges against Mr. Jenner and found them to be substantiated. The committee's decision was based on a thorough review of the evidence presented. Mr. Jenner's defense was minimal, and he made no attempt to refute the charges. The association's action was a surprise to many, as Mr. Jenner had been a prominent figure in the community. The decision was met with approval by the members of the association, who felt that the association's reputation was being protected. The charges against Mr. Jenner were related to his financial management and his interactions with the association's members. The association's decision was a clear message to all members that the association would not tolerate any form of misconduct.

ANOTHER BIG ONE.

The Everett, Ridley, Ragan Company with $500,000 Capital Stock, IS NOW FULLY ORGANIZED FOR BUSINESS.

The New Firm and Its Members—An Institution Which Will Play an Important Part in the Business World.

Another new wholesale house has been added to those which have done so much toward building up Atlanta. This time the Everett, Ridley, Ragan Company. Yesterday morning a petition for a charter for the new company was filed with the clerk of the superior court, and simultaneously came the announcement of the details of the organization of the new company. The petition was filed by Messrs. N. J. & T. A. Hammond. The incorporators are: W. S. Everett, Mrs. E. B. Ridley, W. H. Ragan, Charles F. Malone, Charles F. Barwell and Howard R. Callaway. The capital stock is $500,000.

The application for incorporation explains the object of the company as being to deal in dry goods, notions, boots and shoes, etc., and the place of business, the building now occupied by Messrs. M. C. Kiser & Co. The charter is asked for by the incorporators for the term of twenty years with the privilege of renewing it at the expiration of that period. That the whole story briefly, and as everybody in the business world knows of the high standing of the members of the new firm it might perhaps be considered enough to make a mere mention of these leading facts. But the organization of a half-million-dollar wholesale house is a decidedly interesting event even in Atlanta, where the growth in this regard has been phenomenal of late. The development of the business in Atlanta has been steadily going forward for the past ten years, but in no single year has it taken such strides as in the present one. And no one institution can possibly be regarded as more important than this Everett, Ridley, Ragan Company.

As cited in the petition for incorporation, the members of the new firm have all held a prominent place in the business world. The new firm is to be ready for business by January 1st. It holds a lease on the building now occupied by M. C. & J. F. Kiser & Co. for five years from next September, but arrangements may be perfected by which the firm will occupy that building from January 1st. If this is impossible, The Everett, Ridley, Ragan Company will be located for some months in the Brown block, on Wall street, a lease on that building having been secured.

Members of the New Firm. The members of the new firm are all well known as able, experienced and active business men. Captain W. S. Everett is one of the oldest citizens and business men of Atlanta. He came to this city in 1857 and engaged as clerk with the dry goods firm of J. L. Cutting & Co. He continued with them until the outbreak of the war, when he enlisted with Company E, Ninth Georgia battalion of artillery. He was afterwards promoted to the rank of captain. His record as a soldier closed when his company laid down its arms at Appomattox.

RAILROAD RUMBLE.

The Detectives Working Eagerly on the Wreck Case.

THERE MAY BE A SENSATION IN IT.

A Few Days, at the Most, Will Tell—The Girls Want Free Passes Home, Transportation Men Here.

The clue which the detectives who were working on the Western and Atlantic train wrecking case thought they discovered on Monday, looked yesterday as if it would lead to something definite, so they said. But they would not indicate parallel they were on, and like many another clue, this one may really amount to nothing in the end. Superintendent McCollum said that the case was surrounded by the deepest mystery. He could not imagine any one who has such a grievance that for mere revenge he would try to kill a hundred innocent people. If the detectives' hopes are fulfilled there will be a sensation worth reading.

The wrecked engine, No. 40, will be pulled up and brought into the city today. It was pretty badly broken up. It would have been brought in yesterday but for the rain. The cars and the tender are in the shops. The pair of ballet girls who missed the special train Sunday night are still in the city. They make hourly calls at the ticket office and the general passenger agent's office of the Richmond and Danville to see if arrangements have been made to transport them to Richmond. The girls are deeply distressed. They are strangers in a strange land, they say, and want to get back home.

Being Observed All Over the World by the Y. M. C. A. This week is the week of prayer observed all over the world by members of the Young Men's Christian Association. At both branches of the Young Men's Christian Association in Atlanta, large crowds attended the prayer meetings last night. At the Young Men's Christian Association Rev. Hugh K. Walker preached an interesting sermon, with much pathos and power. A number of young men asked for prayers and five professed Christ. The meetings will be held each night this week, and a meeting for all classes will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Ladies are especially invited to attend this service.

There was a largely attended meeting at the Railroad branch of the Young Men's Christian Association last night. The services there are being conducted by Evangelist R. A. Bowman, of Alabama, and are proving very interesting. Fanning the Embers of Sectionalism. From The Baltimore Sun. The order just issued by the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic urging that there shall be no further participation in any demonstration or parade where the emblem of treason is carried or displayed is one of those ebullitions of sectional fanaticism which moderate men of all shades of opinion cannot fail to deplore. The "emblem of treason" referred to is the Confederate flag, which is said to have been carried in the parade at the Grady monument exercises at Atlanta. There was no significance in the presence of any of the emblem of treason in the parade, and the banner which they followed in battle? It typified, for them, not "treason" or "rebellion," but the glorious memories of hard-fought conflicts, of sacrifices and heroism on behalf of what they believed to be right. They are all the better Americans and patriots because they are not ashamed to cherish a relic stained with the blood of brave men.

Keep the Standard High.

The best articles never fail to please. High price always carries with it a conviction of superior quality. When you are influenced to purchase a substitute because it is cheap, depend upon it, if not injurious to health, you will find it comparatively worthless. In all the food products introduced by Dr. Price, his aim has been to keep the standard high and his Delicious Flavoring Extracts are not an exception to this rule. Try them and see how superior they are to the cheap flavoring extracts for sale as substitutes.

IN THE SIX WARDS

The Atlanta People Will Meet Tomorrow Evening,

AND MAKE A CITIZENS' TICKET.

The Anti-Barroom Advocates Will Not Take Part in the Ward Meetings.

The ward meetings called by the city executive committee Monday night will be held tomorrow night.

But the friends of the anti-barroom ticket will not attend them.

In every ward, however, the mass-meetings will be largely attended, and the attendance will be of Atlanta's representative men.

The action of the executive committee in requesting mass meetings in each of the six wards was freely and fully discussed throughout the city yesterday. Business men, professional men and politicians participated in the debates, and the plan proposed by the committee was ventilated for all it was worth.

Some endorsed the plan. Others opposed. Some wanted a grand mass meeting of citizens at the courthouse to create the ticket. Others preferred a primary.

But nearly every one accepted the committee's work as final and promised to sustain it and abide by the result. All were anxious to avoid a strife. When the meetings are called to order the halls will be thronged.

Where They Will Be Held.

The executive committee, in arranging for the ward meetings, secured the most centrally located hall in each ward.

So far but one change has been made.

That change is in the sixth ward. The committee announced that the sixth ward meeting would be held in the Gate City Guard armory, but the armory will be occupied tomorrow evening by a dancing class. As soon as Chairman Cabanis learned of this he secured the Zouave armory, 51 Marietta, over Snook's furniture store, and there the sixth ward citizens will assemble at 7:30 o'clock to elect five members of the general committee, which will select the candidates for aldermen and councilmen.

First ward—Atlanta Kid's armory on Forsyth street.

Second ward—In county courthouse.

Third ward—Ballard Transfer hall.

Fourth ward—Edgewood Avenue theater.

Fifth ward—Concordia hall.

Sixth ward—Zouave armory.

Will Take No Part in It.

A great interest was manifested wherever the question was discussed as to whether or not the advocates of the anti-barroom ticket would participate in the ward meetings.

But they will not.

The friends and advocates of that ticket have so declared. Judge W. R. Hammond, chairman of the executive committee, has not only declared during the day that he did not see how the friends of the anti-barroom ticket could participate in the meetings. Last night the friends of the ticket met in prohibition hall and adopted a series of resolutions defining their position. Those resolutions read:

Whereas, The statement made by the so-called city executive committee, that they were chosen two years ago "to serve until their successors were elected," is not true according to the published record of the mass meeting of 1889, be it

Resolved, That we recognize their actions as those of private citizens only, and as having no more authority and force than the action of a like number of other citizens in meeting assembled.

Resolved, further, That we are satisfied with the proceedings which were instituted by the recent mass meeting of citizens opposed to the further licensing of barrooms in this city, and that we are pledged to the ticket proposed by the anti-barroom city executive committee, entitled by a second mass meeting, and that we will work in all honorable ways to secure its election on the 21 day of December.

Resolved, further, That the barroom license issue is the dividing question in the present municipal campaign; that the anti-barroom ticket represents one of the two parts of the people, and that any ticket named in opposition thereto, and not pledged to refuse city licenses to barrooms, must logically and in fact be a barroom ticket, and will be regarded and opposed by us; and we invite all good citizens of Atlanta to co-operate with us in our endeavors to defeat such a ticket and elect the anti-barroom ticket.

Resolved, That the meetings which are to be held in the several wards Thursday night are called for the purpose of contriving the defeat of the anti-barroom ticket; that they can only result in brawling and bitterness if both the anti-barroom and barroom elements are represented in such meetings; that there are no safeguards proposed whereby the will of the voters will be protected against the influence and voices of persons not registered, and not entitled to register, who may not be citizens of the ward, city or state; that the control of such meetings is prearranged in the hands of the unauthorized members of the so-called city executive committee; that the ticket, perhaps already prepared by the office of the anti-barroom owners, will be a square anti-barroom ticket, and therefore we earnestly ask all citizens who are opposed to the further licensing of barrooms in Atlanta to keep away from such meetings, not giving them the countenance of their presence and co-operation, so that the barroom people may control such meetings without interference of any kind, and the ticket they manufacture may be fully recognized as the barroom ticket.

Resolved further, That we endorse the water bonds proposition, and will do all we possibly can to carry said proposition to the polls.

He Will Not Serve.

Mr. George S. Lowndes, one of the ten delegates from the city at large to the committee of 100, declines to serve. Mr. Lowndes was selected by the city executive committee Monday night, and in a card of declination says:

EDITOR CONSTITUTION—See from the morning's paper that the committee of 100 has kindly selected my name as one of the 100 to serve on the committee to select names for aldermen and councilmen. I must thank the executive committee for the compliment, at the same time decline to serve, as I am in no way connected with politics, and do not wish to be very respectfully,

GEORGE S. LOWNDES.

The Railroad League.

The members of the Railroad Men's League will maintain the strictest silence as to the personnel of the ticket endorsed by them on Monday night.

They say it will be given out at the proper time.

Here is the full ticket, proposed by the committee, but only a portion of which was endorsed:

Alderman, North Side—H. M. Beutell. Alderman, South Side—Joseph Hirsch. First Ward—O. Rineau. Second Ward—John Colvin. Third Ward—John McWaters. Fourth Ward—J. M. Vining. Fifth Ward—John Ellsworth. Sixth Ward—G. V. Gress.

The two first names on the ticket for councilmen, those of John Colvin and O. Rineau, were most particularly endorsed. The league wants these two gentlemen to represent it in the council in all means.

Either of these names failing to go through, the four other names will be presented to the committee of 100 to choose from. The last four names were not endorsed, but were put for second choice.

The league is in for the fray, and its members say it must have at least two representatives in the city council.

Not a Candidate.

Mr. M. N. Blount, deputy sheriff, whose name was mentioned as a possible candidate for the position of alderman, stated yesterday that he was not a candidate, and under no circumstances would he be a candidate, as he had as much as he could attend to in his present position.

Who Will Get 100?

When the committee of 100 meets Friday evening next to create the citizens' ticket there will be a big lot of candidates to select from.

For alderman on the south side, Mr. Joe Hirsch, Mr. John Colvin, Mr. Jake Hask, Mr. E. H. Thornton, Dr. Armstrong, Major John

A NEW TRIAL

Granted E. A. Underwood by the Supreme Court.

HE WILL BE TRIED AGAIN FOR HIS LIFE

Before a Jury of His Peers—His Case Ably Argued by Colonel Glenn—The Court's Ruling.

Elisha A. Underwood, now confined in Fulton county jail under sentence of death, was granted a new trial yesterday by the supreme court.

The new trial was granted on the ground that Judge Richard H. Clark, before whom Underwood was tried, had not charged the jury properly.

The attorneys for the defense requested Judge Clark to give in his charge to the jury the law of self-defense, but he refused to do so, stating that there was no evidence in the case attempting to prove that the killing was done in self-defense, outside of the statement made by Underwood himself.

The supreme court reversed this ruling, and says that when a prisoner is on trial for murder and makes a plea of self-defense the judge must charge the jury on the law of self-defense, even if there is no other evidence on that line.

The following is the official order of the court: Underwood vs. the State. Criminal law. Charge of court. Prisoner's statement. Practice. Before Judge Richard H. Clark. Fulton superior court.

The prisoner's statement, if true, making a case from which the jury might conclude that the killing was necessary in self-defense, and his counsel having, at the proper time, requested the court, in writing, to instruct the jury that if they believed that, at the time of the killing, the deceased was making an unjustifiable assault upon the accused, and that the accused was in a reasonable fear of taking his life, that the conduct of the accused was solely in defense against that assault, and was necessary in order to save his own life, and that under these circumstances the accused was not guilty, and the jury should so find. It was error, according to Hayden vs. State, 49 Ga. 421, to deny such request. The supreme court, Georgia, do not require for any instruction based on the prisoner's statement appearing in the charge of the court so far as verified, and also the full charge of the court, and the jury shall be so instructed. The court shall be so instructed. The court shall be so instructed.

Therefore, it is ordered, that the white citizens' primary election be held on the 22 day of December next: one alderman from the south side one alderman from the north side and one councilman from each of the six wards of the city; also, a citizens' executive committee of three members from each ward to be named and elected on the 22 day of December next; and the committee so named and elected shall be the executive committee of the city for the year 1892, and shall have the same powers and duties as the executive committee of the city for the year 1891.

1. Polls shall be opened in all the six wards of the city from 10 o'clock a. m. to 6 o'clock p. m., each polling place to be named and conducted by the managers to be appointed by a subcommittee of three from each ward, the chairman of which shall be the chairman of the subcommittee of three. Said managers shall consolidate the names and reports of the managers of the several wards, and shall report the same to the executive committee on the 22 day of December next.

2. In the interest of a fair and honest election the use of carriers for hauling voters to the polls and employment of workers to solicit votes are strictly prohibited. The candidate who, either by himself or by others, employs such carriers or workers to solicit votes, shall be declared ineligible to hold office, and his name shall not be placed in nomination for election on the 22 day of December next.

3. In the interest of a fair and honest election the use of carriers for hauling voters to the polls and employment of workers to solicit votes are strictly prohibited. THE NATIONAL PARK.

A Talk with General Boynton—What the Commissioners Are Doing.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION—General H. V. Boynton, the veteran Washington correspondent of many influential newspapers, especially The Commercial Gazette, of Cincinnati, and the father of the National park scheme, is spending some time at Chickamauga. General Boynton has recently severed the connection with The Gazette, and it is rumored that he did so because the paper will soon be an out-and-out Blaine paper, which was a little more than this gentleman could stand. General Boynton has the reputation of being a clean republican and never would sanction fraud by anybody.

Last evening I met General Boynton, in the corridors of the Park hotel, and asked him how the work on the park was progressing.

"Well," he said, "we have been very much delayed by getting titles to the land. The money is ready, but owing to the fact that the land had to be condemned and the titles examined and approved by the war department, considerable time has been consumed."

"What will be the first work, general?"

"The first thing we shall do will be to establish and put in good condition the main roads used by both sides during the battle."

"What will be the second work of the roads?"

"We propose to set in good condition these roads, and build them according to the most improved methods. At the same time we do not propose to widen them much, but our object is to let them be, so far as width and general appearance, just as they were in 1864. At the time of the battle they were in the woods, and the opening of this road would be necessary in order to show the position of the army of the north."

"General, how does the general appearance of the field compare with its condition at the time of the battle?"

"It is almost exactly the same. It is less changed than any battlefield of the war. It was this fact which suggested the idea of the park. Here is a battlefield that has undergone no practical change in twenty-seven years."

"Where have you seen slight changes, what will you do?"

"We will restore them as far as possible. For instance, we will rebuild the Glenn house (General Resaca's headquarters) just as it was. Take the Kelley field in which the hard fighting was done. At the time of the battle that was a cleared; now it is all grown up with brush and weeds. We will clear it up to its original shape."

"Is there any other work of this kind to be done?"

"Yes. You see in twenty-seven or twenty-eight years a great deal of underbrush has grown up. This will all be cleared out. The park, in fact, will be a fac-simile of the battlefield as it was in 1864."

"How will the field be marked?"

"This will be done by tablets, either of iron or bronze. For instance, we will mark the positions of the lines, and will put at all important points of the fields. There will be tablets for corps, division and brigade headquarters, and for the positions of the commanding officers. Under this will be a historical text, as it were, telling exactly what that brigade, that division, that corps did at that time."

"How many of these tablets will there be?"

"About two hundred and fifty in all. They will be put up in pairs, and will mark the lines of both the confederate and union armies."

"General, were there any breastworks in the battle?"

"Yes; very few and very primitive. The confederates had a few low breastworks a few feet high. These will be restored."

"Will it not almost be impossible to locate all these?"

"Not at all. Fortunately Major Boyd, our engineer-in-chief, surveyed the battlefield of Chickamauga just after the battle of Missionary Ridge and before it was changed in the least. Major Boyd has the notes of that survey and the restoration will be made in accordance with them."

"How many men were in this battle?"

"We (the union side) had, as near as we can come at fifty-eight thousand men. It is a disputed point how many the confederates had. Their officers claim to have had more than fifty thousand, but on the other hand the records show that they had only about thirty thousand. I am inclined to believe the latter figure, and about a month before the battle, gives 30,000 men. He was then largely reinforced by a part of the army from East Tennessee, and on the second day of the battle by Longstreet's corps. The estimate of the number of men in the battle is about 70,000, but as yet we have been unable to obtain any accurate information."

"When will work begin on the park?"

"Right away. There will be considerable work

EVENTS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Mrs. Dickson's Party Tonight—The Whit-Tichenor Wedding—Talks About People You Know.

The company of young people which Miss Annie Richmond invited to an old maid party, at her home on Peachtree last evening, spent three merry hours in most unique fun.

Tables were arranged in the long drawing rooms as for progressive euchre, but, instead, the young men and maidens played progressive old maid. That old maid can progress is a great discovery of modern female progress, although the fact, in no wise, concerned the lives of the enchanting young maid present.

The first old maid's prize was the "darlingest" of the little kittens, tied with blue ribbons and presented to the winner in a fancy wicker basket. The old maid's prize was a thoroughly equipped and very dainty darning basket.

The booty prizes were pretty silver trinkets. During the evening delicious refreshments were beautifully served, and the fifty guests departed in high glee, pronouncing the affair about the oddest and jolliest card party of the season.

Can anybody tell why some people are allowed to accumulate money? A story comes to me of a young professional man and his wealthy cousin. The said professional man, like most others of his ilk, is not well off enough to afford the pleasure of many amusements. This cousin called him one evening at the telephone and said:

"I say, Jack, would you like to go to the theater with me?"

"Yes, be delighted," came the ready reply.

"Very well, then, I'll send you the ticket I bought for my wife. She's ill and can't go."

Jack didn't think he cared about going to the tune of a dollar's worth, and the generous kinsman said he'd try and sell his seat to somebody else.

The Whit-Tichenor wedding, which occurs today at the First Presbyterian church, will be an event of great interest to many. The bride and groom are both well known names and the best social positions, and they are very popular personally in Atlanta.

Miss Kathleen Jones's very charming reception to the Lucy Cobb graduates Monday afternoon brought a number of delightful young women together to discuss congenial topics, and thoroughly enjoy themselves in the artistic and beautiful surroundings of the home of the bride.

The drawing room was brilliantly lighted and adorned with chrysanthemums, and the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served, was particularly lovely in its arrangement.

The guests present were: Mrs. Stephen Hook, Mrs. Hugh Hagan, Mrs. Thomas Cobb, of Athens; Mrs. Vassar Woolley, Miss Blanche Lipscomb, Miss Kate Rame, Miss Lettie Hopkin, Miss George West, Miss Berta Abbott, Miss Letta Venable, Miss Willie Bell, Miss Edie Howell, Miss Lily Goldsmith, Miss Mamie Goldsmith, Miss Ida Goldsmith, Miss Ida Howell, Miss Janie Stephens, Miss Nellie Inman, Miss Sallie Meador, Miss Comer, of Savannah; Miss Hunt, of Columbus; Miss Julia Ketter, Miss Louise Markham, Miss Mattie Lou Howard and Miss Sue T. Hook.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Stiles celebrated the fourth anniversary of their marriage at their home on Trinity avenue. Quite a number of relatives and friends gathered for the occasion, and the evening was a most enjoyable one. The chief amusement was a military contest between the male members of the company. A collection of equal hats, gaudy, trimmings, and ribbons were furnished the men to select from and trim their hats. Mr. W. A. Wright was awarded first prize and Mr. F. Parater the booty. Those invited were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. George Seiple, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Haygood, Mr. and Mrs. Cobb Lankin, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Stiles, Misses George, Fannie and Carrie Cox, Misses Anna, Belle, Madeline, Elbert, Cunningham, Burke, Barnes, and McDonald, Stiles, Messrs Douglas, Smith, Howard, Allen, Sterling and John Cox, Clanton, White and Parater.

The Castillon Club will give its next entertainment Friday evening, November 13th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Thornton, on Washington street. The unusually interesting programme has been arranged for the occasion, and that those who attend will have a merry time goes without saying. The club has become a most popular one, and its fortnightly meetings are always pleasant occasions.

A lovely little maid tells me that her father has offered her $20 the morning she makes him a genuine English muffin that he remembers eating in Britain when a boy. A pretty hard task for the wisest of young housekeepers, to make a dish have the same perfect taste as that of one's kinsman. But the pretty girl is trying bravely, and her last attempt was declared almost a perfect success.

It seems that in England one of the breakfast muffins must be made up with yeast the night before and set to rise in a warm place. The kitchen corner. In the morning the first rising must be worked over and have milk worked into it; and then when the batter is brought to light again, it must be poured into large muffin tins and baked quickly.

Can any CONSTITUTION reader send me a recipe for Welsh rarebit? Any number of them will be welcome, for I will publish them all and let my inquirers take their choice. The fact that the chafing dish is coming again in vogue brings a demand for recipes telling how to make a delicious, delicious, delicious dish to be particularly welcome for a late supper.

Small informal parties after the theater or for the purpose of serving something nice during a long evening call these dishes are simply invaluable. The plain ones can be found almost anywhere, and I saw a pair of exquisite silver ones at a certain well-known establishment. The silver vessels are rather deep, with handsome ornamented covers, and the entire arrangement would be ornamental as well as useful on a pretty side table in one's dining room. Their convenience cannot be gainsaid. If one were to serve a little supper late at night, the table can be arranged and all the cold dishes prepared beforehand. The hostess can let her servants go to their slumbers and prepare on these dishes chocolate or coffee and oysters, a Welsh rarebit, or almost anything she desires. There is so much pleasure, too, to a woman and her guests in having the matter of informal entertaining made easy. The best of servants will grumble a bit over the eatables at all hours, but it is so much more to be able to have things as one wishes without bothering to anybody.

Mrs. Dickson's reception to Miss Wilkins this evening will terminate all such affairs should, in a cotillion. A dance assuredly breaks the formality of the conservative reception, and what other than a dance can be expected when so many of the young people as are in this season's social dances are present. The best arrangement for making everybody well acquainted. Mrs. Dickson's entertainments are always arranged with perfect taste and with that exquisite consideration for the guests that is not always shown in large assemblies at private mansions. Mrs. Dickson's hospitality is proverbial, and she possesses to a high degree that exquisite taste which so ably aids hospitality.

The reception to be given by Judge and Mrs. Bigby in honor of the debut of their daughter, Miss Louise Bigby, will also end in a cotillion, but will be a smaller affair than Mrs. Dickson's, including only the dancing set of society. Mrs. Bigby's home, on Washington street, is about the only one in the city where the house is built on a hill, with a view of the city and the river, and the house is a beautiful one, with a large garden and vineyard at the rear and side. The great white mansion, with its green blinds and generous-pillared piazzas, is an ideal one for a fair southern girl of wealth and culture. The interior of the house is generous also in its architecture, for all the spacious rooms on the lower floor can be made one by means of folding doors. Judge and Mrs. Bigby possess also that delightful

IT BROUGHT $29,000.

No. 1 Engine House Sold at Public Outcry.

CAPTAIN J. W. ENGLISH GETS IT.

The Building Sold Well, but Might Have Brought More—The Company Will Still Use It.

No. 1 engine house, on South Broad street, next to the bridge was sold yesterday at auction for $29,000.

Captain J. W. English bought it.

The building was sold to acquire money with which to buy the Maddox lot on Alabama street for a fire headquarters building. Since the city decided to dispose of the lot there has been a great deal of speculation as to its value. Some placed the value as low as $20,000, while others more sanguine put it at $35,000, and even as high as $37,500.

Mr. J. C. Hendrix, the real estate agent, opened the sale at 12 o'clock with a big party of Atlanta's moneyed men present, every one willing to buy a bargain.

Captain J. W. English, Mr. Hugh Inman, Mr. Jacob Haas, Major J. H. McCallin, Mr. Sam Parrott, Mr. George Winship, Alderman Frank Rice, Mayor Hemphill and Dr. Hendrix were among those present. Mr. Hendrix decried upon the value of the property, and predicted that it would bring twice its present value in less than five years.

"In 1882," he said, "Captain English bought it for Atlanta for $11,000. I see the captain here now, and he would be glad to get it for twice that money. It is the most central property in the city, and has a frontage of 38.8 feet, and is 100 feet deep with a twelve-foot alley in the rear. The building goes without the fire bell and machinery. Now, give me a start."

"Twenty thousand dollars," said Mr. Jake Haas.

Almost before the words were completed, Captain English responded:

"Twenty-five thousand."

Then Captain English's bid was raised a thousand.

A thousand dollars was added at every bid until the price reached $28,000. Then it went on, a hundred dollars at a time, until $29,000 was reached. Then the bidding stopped and the auctioneer knocked the building down to Captain English.

The price is considered by those present a fair one, but it would have brought more had the bidders against Captain English stuck to the fight. The captain himself declares that it is cheap.

The building will be used by the city as an engine house until the new fire department building is completed.

"A Yard of Roses."

One of the popular paintings by the New York Academy of Design was a yard-long panel of roses. A crowd was always before it. One critic exclaimed: "Such a bit of nature should belong to all the people; it is too beautiful for one man to hide away."

The Youth's Companion, of Boston, seized the idea, and spent $20,000 to reproduce the painting. The result has been a triumph of artistic delicacy and color.

The Companion makes an autumn gift of this copy of the painting to each of its 500,000 subscribers. As the subscription is received till January 1st, including the Thanksgiving and Christmas, complete in the volume, Price 20 cents, by mail 60 cents. For sale by John H. BADLY EMBARRASSED FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Kensington Land Company in a Receiver's Hands.

THE CASE SET FOR MONDAY NEXT.

A Capture of a Big Distillery—Other Matters from the Departments of the Custom House.

THE CONSTITUTION yesterday told of an important suit against the Kensington Land Company. As service had not been perfected, the officers of the court were not able to give the details of the suit and application for receiver until yesterday morning.

The bill asking for it was filed by G. C. Webb & Co., furniture dealers of Ohio, and C. E. Busk and W. T. Turnbull have been appointed temporary receivers.

The Webb firm claims an indebtedness of more than $5,000 and states that it has been due since January with no indications of payment. The plaintiffs are represented by Messrs. Calhoun, King & Spaulding.

The following defendants have been named in the bill: The Kensington Land Company, J. D. Stephens, D. H. Freeman, C. P. Fricks, J. H. Merks, M. H. Smith, N. B. Fricks, J. H. Wyatt and Little & Hillisley, of Walker County, Georgia; Martin Canfield, W. W. Harrison, and Cochran, Goddard & Co., of Pennsylvania; G. L. Hager, City of Pennsylvania; Cahill iron works, Lamar & Peoples, T. A. Snow, Temple & Shipp, W. B. Parham, Casey & Hedges, D. B. Loveman & Co., Leo Akerman, Wright & Co., and Hogan & Camp, of Tennessee.

Kensington is owned by the Kensington Land Company, and is situated near Chattahoochee, on the Georgia line. The property consists of 1,600 acres of land, a hotel valued at $30,000, and furniture worth nearly $10,000. The company has conveyed a deed of trust, covering the 1,600 acres of land, to the Citizens' Trust and Banking Company, of Tennessee, to secure certain issues of mortgage bonds, to the value of $108,000.

The hotel has never been paid for. Twenty thousand dollars is owed W. W. Harrison, who advanced money to complete the building, and the hotel is mortgaged to secure this debt.

An attempt will be made to unravel the tangled-up affairs of the concern.

A New and Convenient Line.

A new postal service has been established in a section of Georgia where it has long been needed. Beginning on Monday two trains will be run daily from Macon to Eatonton, over the Middle Georgia and Atlantic railroad.

This will give Eatonton double daily mails, connecting with the Macon and Northern, operated by the Richmond and Danville. It will prove a very convenient step.

Suits for $15,000.

A damage suit was called in the circuit court yesterday, and though the entire day was spent upon it, a verdict was not reached before today. The case was that of J. L. Phillips against the Richmond and Danville for $15,000. Phillips was a car coupler, and he lost a hand while in the service of the road. He is represented by Mr. C. T. Ladd.

Almost Paid the Penalty.

H. Hirschberg, of Birmingham, came near getting into trouble yesterday. On Monday a package sent from England addressed to him was stopped at the postoffice and sent to Atlanta for disposition. It contained some money, which was a violation of the law forbidding the importation of merchandise by mail.

Collector of Customs C. C. Wimbish examined into the contents yesterday, and although he had no authority to open the package and find the one to whom it was addressed, he decided that its small value disproved any intention of fraud, and returned it to Hirschberg for his disposal.

The Biggest Suit Yet.

Deputy Collector Hetherington and Deputy Marshal Goods seized the largest suit on Monday that has perhaps ever been captured by the local revenue officers.

It was one of 150 gallons capacity, situated in Cherokee county, near Cherokee Mills. The still, with a cap and worm, and 500 gallons of beer, were destroyed and four men were arrested. They were from the States of Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, who bound Tom Peters over and dismissed the rest of the men.

A Large Number of Applicants.

An examination that is attracting a great deal of attention will be held at the postoffice on next Tuesday. It is for the position of clerk, and will be conducted by Mr. E. F. Bloodgood, chairman of the local board of civil service examiners. Either six or eight positions will be filled. The salary for the first year is $600, and increases according to efficiency.

THE BOYS ARE COMING.

The Chi Phi Delegates Will Be Given a Royal Welcome Tomorrow.

The Chi Phi boys are beginning to warm up over the coming convention.

The various committees of the Atlanta annual have been very busy men for the past day or two, making the final arrangements. Groups of the city members and a few advance delegates may be seen chatting together at almost any hour about the Kimball house, and everything and everybody connected with Chi Phi is all expectancy for the opening on tomorrow.

There will be a gay cavalcade of youths and bearded men on the streets for the next two days, all talking Chi Phi, thinking Chi Phi and deciding in the badges of scarlet and blue. The convention will open tomorrow morning in the senate chamber with an address by Judge Andy Calhoun. The resident members are urged to attend this exercise.

DO YOU PRIZE HEALTH?—Of course! The liver, stomach and bowels set clock work when put in order by Bile Beans or Bile Beans Syrup.

The gain in the amount of insurance in force in the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company of Portland, Me., for the first six months of 1891, was five times as much as the increase in the corresponding period of 1890.

A RAILROAD CASE

Decided by Judge Marshall J. Clarke Yesterday Morning.

A DECISION OF GREAT IMPORTANCE.

Other Cases in the Courts—Various Matters Gathered in the Different Departments of the County Court.

A case of far-reaching importance, and one which involves several hundred thousand dollars, was decided yesterday morning by Judge Marshall J. Clarke.

The decision touches one branch of the big litigation over the property of the old Western and Atlantic railroad.

Messrs. Glenn & Maddox and Judge H. B. Tompkins representing several persons who hold large claims against the Western and Atlantic railroad, went before Judge Marshall J. Clarke some weeks ago and petitioned for a receiver. They claimed that the road was already in the hands of two receivers, Messrs. Joseph E. Brown and E. B. Stallman, who were appointed by the federal court, but they challenged the constitutionality of the United States circuit court in making the appointments. They raised a question of jurisdiction, and held that it was Judge Clarke's province to supersede the federal court's action by placing the property of the railroad in new receivers' hands.

In the meantime Judge Tompkins had brought a case in the United States circuit court.

It will be recalled that the supreme court held that the Western and Atlantic railroad was dissolved by the expiration of its charter, the 20th day of last December.

Soon after this decision was announced, Mr. Julius Brown, representing some heavy creditors of the expired corporation, filed a bill in the federal court, asking for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the property.

The case was elaborately argued before the judges of the United States circuit court, and finally the petition was granted. Thereupon the court named as receivers, the Hon. Joseph E. Brown and Major E. B. Stallman, who immediately took control of the property.

Last September, Hon. A. S. Clay and Judge Tompkins, who represented claims against the company, filed a bill in the state court, and also demurred in the federal court.

Last Saturday Judge Marshall J. Clarke devoted the entire day to hearing arguments in this case.

Arguments were made by Judge Tompkins and Mr. W. C. Glenn, and Mr. Julius Brown. Mr. Brown, who fought the petition for a receiver, contended that the bill should be dismissed because the United States court had appointed a receiver first.

The answer made to this was that Judge Clarke ought to hold the case until the decision in the federal court on demurrer there, to be heard next Saturday, could be decided, and if the demurrer should be sustained, then he could logically go on and appoint a receiver as petitioned in the bill.

A great many authorities were quoted on both sides.

The lawyers admitted that the case was a peculiar one; that none precisely analogous to it could be found in the books.

Judge Clarke, in the decision given in full below, sustains the position taken by Messrs. Tompkins and Glenn.

Next Saturday the demurrer case will be argued in the United States court.

Judge Clarke's decision is as follows:

Mary Demme et al. vs. Joseph E. Brown et al. Petition for receiver, etc. In Fulton superior court, spring term, 1890.

The above stated case having on November 7, 1890, come up for a hearing under a rule against the defendants to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed, and an instruction be granted in accord with the prayer of the petition, and the defendants having failed to appear in this court of the said suit, W. T. Waters et al. in the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of Georgia a bill against the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company et al. for the purpose of placing in the hands of a receiver the assets which said petition is designed to reach, and that on December 22, 1890, a receiver for such assets was appointed by said court, and has since assumed entire control of the same, and said defendants having introduced evidence sustaining said plea, and the plaintiffs having by evidence, there is now pending said circuit court appropriate proceedings to test its jurisdiction of said bill.

It is ordered, upon consideration of the premises, that this court do proceed no further, said rule till said question of jurisdiction shall have been determined by said circuit court, under said bill, chapter V, sections 122, 123, 124, 125, and notes; 2 Woods, 425 to 428.

It is further ordered that the said defendants to have said rule revoked, be denied.

MARSHALL J. CLARKE, J. S. C. A. C.

A Suit for $200,000.

The filing of heavy damage suits against railway corporations is a daily occurrence in Atlanta. Yesterday Messrs. Speirs & Roan instituted a suit for $200,000 damages against the Richmond and Danville railroad. The plaintiff is Thomas H. Martin, who was injured in an accident on the Georgia Pacific railway some months ago. In his declaration he charges the defendant's servants with carelessness, and avers that he was blameless. The suit was docketed in the city court.

The Grand Jury.

The members of the grand jury have been summoned to meet next Friday morning. The various committees appointed to examine into the condition of the county institutions will submit their reports, and other matters of interest will be prepared. Solicitor General Hill has several important cases for the grand jury. It is stated that some of the witnesses testified in the case of the state against Dr. Gardner, will be present for jury.

Dr. Martin's Case.

Judge Guber has notified Solicitor General Charles D. Hill that he will be ready to hear the motion for a new trial in this case next Monday. Messrs. Glenn & Slaton will argue the motion. They say they have strong arguments to offer. One feature of the trial, which they will discuss and emphasize, is the behavior of the crowd in the courtroom during the trial of the case. It is said that the applause indulged in by the crowd affords a strong ground for a new trial. Since the case was tried Dr. Martin has been out on bail and sentence has been suspended.

Not the Gardner Case.

The case in the city court which Dr. Gardner is a party to a civil suit, he being the plaintiff. The case was tried last week, and Dr. Gardner was given a verdict, but the defendant is now endeavoring to get a new trial. By a mistake the Martin case was, in a recent issue of THE CONSTITUTION, referred to as the Gardner case.

FIVE OLD PEOPLE

Gather Around a Table and Talk of Old Times.

Five persons, each over eighty years of age, gathered around a dinner table.

It is something rarely seen.

But it was presented a day or two ago near Hampton, in Henry county, and an Atlanta divine was present at the dining.

Rev. Dr. Thomas, of the Christian church, was visiting Elder W. S. Fears, in Henry county, when he gave a dinner to a few octogenarians living in the neighborhood.

Around the table were:

Jesse G. Fears, born February 13, 1805; W. S. Fears, born November 31, 1805; Mrs. Catharine Derrick, born September 2, 1807; Mrs. Sarah Fears, born August 29, 1809; Mrs. Esther Bernhardt, born November 12, 1810.

"They were all born," said Dr. Thomas, speaking of the gathering, "in the same neighborhood. They were reared together, and as children played together, and have always been close, warm friends. Mr. Jesse Fears was never married, but his interest in the grandchildren of his brother is remarkable."

"Two of the ladies," continued the doctor, "Mrs. Fears and Mrs. Bernhardt, walked from South Carolina to Georgia in 1832. They drove the cows, too, and at the dinner table one of them naively remarked:

"When the cows would leave the road, compelling us to follow them into the briars, we wished there were no cows."

"One of the five ladies live in Fulton county," Mrs. Derrick. Near the Fears home is another lady who was raised with the five, but she was too feeble to dine at the dinner.

Mr. W. S. Fears is still one of the most vigorous men in the county. He frequently walks five or six miles visiting the sick and needy. He is a minister of the gospel, and is well known by all who know him. He came to Georgia first in 1825, and has lived in Henry county since 1828."

THE LOVELY CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

The show by the Atlanta Horticultural Society at the Capitol today.

The show of chrysanthemums by the Atlanta Horticultural Society will be made today in the capitol, from 9 o'clock this morning to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The extraordinary show of these lovely flowers will be attended numerously by the lovers of pretty flowers. The show is free, and the public is cordially invited.

The show will be in charge of Mr. D. H. Gould, president of the society, and this insures a good show.

Visitors at the exposition were charmed by nothing so much as by the show of lovely and fragrant chrysanthemums collected in the north end of the second floor of the main building.

Glorious flowers, with colors harmoniously blended, it was refreshing to look at them. Many of these rare flowers will be included in the show today.

"I feel that I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla half enough," says a grateful mother whose little son was almost blind with scrofula, and was cured by "the peculiar medicine."

The Force of Habit.

Habit, so said, is second nature, but not necessarily true. We all admit that certain habits are quite strong and very hard to overcome. So much so that sometimes it seems impossible to break them. But with a proper amount of determination and perseverance they, indeed, will fall. Habit sometimes becomes a disease. Then you need help. Lack of exercise, improper living, excessive indulgence, or, often, prostrate habits, such as intemperance, and following this, flatulency or some disease of the bowels which makes it necessary for you to have professional services. It is not only unnecessary for you to continuously take medicine, but it is decidedly injurious. Remove the effect and then treat the cause in a common sense way and a cure will result. It takes time to do this, but if you persevere you will be fully repaid for the effort.

Many ladies suffering in this way become the victims of serious urticaria disease. This should not be, nor is it at all necessary, for if you will give me the opportunity I can cure you. My experience is large. In fact, I have given the last years of my life to the study of these troubles, etc. Does any experience entitle me to your consideration? Respectfully,

THE CONSTITUTION

That people will suffer from sick headache, dyspepsia, nervousness, constipation, piles, and frequent attacks of biliousness, when a few doses of Simmons Liver Regulator, taken occasionally, would cure and prevent them. There are also very intelligent people who fail to note the action of the system, whether the waste passes off regularly, or they have eaten something too hard for the delicate organs of digestion. The result is the liver, kidneys and bowels become diseased, the tongue coated, the blood tainted, skin yellowish occasionally breaking out with pimples. The victims become melancholy, sleepless and lose their appetite, and so on until his complaint is chronic, when they know that Simmons Liver Regulator will cure them. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.
